Dr. Ben Carson's Little Patriot's Curriculum Available for Students in Alaska

Little Patriots will serve as supplemental educational material

ANCHORAGE, AK - Today the American Cornerstone Institute (ACI) announced its Little Patriots Program will now be available as supplemental educational material in Alaskan schools.

“At the American Cornerstone Institute, we created the Little Patriots program to teach children America’s true history, civics lessons, and our nation’s cornerstone values in a fun, engaging, and age-appropriate manner,” said ACI Founder & Chairman, Dr. Ben Carson. “At a time where civics scores are plummeting across the nation and parents are desperately searching for appropriate family content, this couldn’t be a more important endeavor. It is encouraging to see leaders like Governor Dunleavy prioritize the education of our future generation of American leaders and I am very excited about this partnership.”

“As a former educator, I’m encouraged that Dr. Carson and the team at American Cornerstone Institute have developed a curriculum that can help students understand why America matters,” said Alaska Governor Mike Dunleavy. “It’s a refreshing reminder that the self-evident truth of the principles our nation was founded upon remain true today, regardless of what any anti-American, revisionist historian may say.”

Alaska school districts will be able to approve the Little Patriots curriculum according to local protocols.
