American Cornerstone Institute’s Little Patriots Program Introduces Free Curriculum for Celebrating American Liberty

The American Cornerstone Institute (ACI) announced today that its Little Patriots Program has developed a new week-long supplementary unit for kindergarten through fifth grade called “Celebrate Freedom Week.” Designed by esteemed historians and educators, the curriculum is comprised of a combination of activities and lessons on an array of pivotal moments in American history, including influential historical figures.

“Education is crucial to the future of our Republic. Without an informed populace, people are easily manipulated and taken advantage of. Little Patriot’s ‘Celebrate Freedom Week’ curriculum teaches the foundational principles upon which our great country was founded without political bias,” said Dr. Ben Carson, Founder and Chairman of the American Cornerstone Institute.

“Instilling a robust understanding of civic education and responsibility in today’s youth is critical in preparing and inspiring America’s next generation of thought leaders and trailblazers. Celebrate Freedom Week aims to instill a deep appreciation for the freedoms and values integral to the United States through fun, engaging, and interactive lessons and activities for young learners,” said Dr. Ami Butler, Director of Curriculum for the Little Patriots Program.

Each course includes grade specific teacher guides, worksheets, activities, and assessments. All resources are free and available on the Little Patriots website: LittlePatriotsLearning.com.

Little Patriots provides educational resources on America’s founding and civics for kindergarten through fifth grade, including grade-specific supplemental curriculum, a cartoon series for kids called “Star Spangled Adventures,” and children’s books written by Dr. Carson.
